Directions for Donating Credit Card Frequent Flyer Points

- Call your credit card company to determine which airlines they allow you to convert points to miles with
- Compare credit card list with Fisher House “Hero Miles” airline partners currently accepting mileage donations, convert points to miles through credit card company
- You must have a Mileage Account with whichever airline you are going to donate the miles to
- If you need to set up a new account with one of the airlines it can be done directly through their toll free number
- Each airline partner has a specific process to donate miles—information is available above

Tax Deduction Information

The Internal Revenue Service does not recognize donations of frequent flyer miles as tax a deduction since taxes were not collected from individuals when they earned the miles.

For further information, we suggest that you consult IRS Publication 526 and/or your personal tax advisor.

Confirmation of Donations

To protect donor privacy, mileage donation information received by Fisher House “Hero Miles” includes only number of miles donated and date donated. Written confirmation is issued by each airline in the form of an updated periodic account statement that will reflect new mileage balance after donation.

Thank you for your kind gift of miles for our “Hero Miles” program. Support like yours allows us to continue caring for our wounded Heroes and their families.
